2. An excellent example of the effectiveness of the Qualifications Review Panel may be cited from last week's session, where an application for intermediate Chinese at Yale was submitted on behalf of an FE man. Because of a low aptitude rating and insufficient information on the man's present proficiency - he had not yet returned to HQ - the Panel deferred a decision. The next day, when the man returned, [] interviewed him and discovered that his proficiency was virtually zero and that he could not possibly have anything but a beginner's course. The day after that, FE cancelled the application for external training and announced that their man would apply for the Agency's full-time Chinese course beginning in September 1959.

4. [redacted] deserves special mention on his new technique for mounting blow-ups of photos displayed in area class rooms. With perseverance he more than fulfilled [redacted] requirement for a process that would overcome the tendency of large sheets of cardboard to curl when hanging freely. Black borders and heavy black lettering on white background give a most attractive effect.

5. [] completed her temporary duty [] on 28 November. Under a modification of her contract suggested by D/LT, she will be on call for special assignments. Her help will be especially useful for double-checking the speaker when her German translation of the "Free Europe" film is recorded []

[] Her text, for long-term use in language/area teaching, is considered an exceptional job which bears few earmarks of being a translation.
